ERRATA, VOLUME 31

Summer issue, p. 139, concluding paragraph: John Carlin’s last bid for elective office actually came in 1994, not 1990. The former governor received the Democratic nomination for U.S. House of Representatives, Second Congressional District, but lost the November general election to Republican Sam Brownback. Summer issue, pp. 147–48: the author of Laura Ingalls Wilder: A Writer’s Life is Pamela Smith Hill, not Pamela Smith Hall.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY was organized by Kansas newspaper editors and publishers in 1875 and soon became the official trustee for the state's historical collections. Since that time the Society has operated both as a non-profit membership organization (KSHS, Inc.) and a state agency (KSHS). A one-hundred-two-member board of directors, through its executive committee (three of whom are appointed by the governor), governs the KSHS, Inc. The Kansas Historical Society is part of the executive branch of state government.

The mission of the Kansas Historical Society is to identify, collect, preserve, interpret, and disseminate materials and information pertaining to Kansas history in order to assist the public in understanding and appreciating their Kansas heritage and how it relates to their lives. This is accomplished through educational and cultural programs, the provision of research services, and the protection of historic properties. The Society headquarters are in Topeka, and it operates sixteen historic sites throughout the state.

EDITORIAL POLICIES

Kansas History is published quarterly by the Kansas State Historical Society, Inc., and contains scholarly articles, edited documents, and other materials that contribute to an understanding of the history and cultural heritage of Kansas and the Central Plains. Political, social, intellectual, cultural, economic, and institutional histories are welcome, as are biographical and historiographical interpretations and studies of archeology, the built environment, and material culture. Articles emphasizing visual documentation, exceptional reminiscences, and autobiographical writings also are considered for publication. Genealogical studies generally are not accepted.

Manuscripts are evaluated anonymously by appropriate scholars who determine the suitability for publication based on the manuscript's originality, quality of research, significance, and presentation, among other factors. Previously published articles or manuscripts that are being considered for publication elsewhere will not be considered. The editors reserve the right to make changes in accepted articles and will consult with authors regarding such. The Society assumes no responsibility for statements of fact or opinion made by contributors.

Kansas History follows the Chicago Manual of Style, published by the University of Chicago Press (15th ed., rev., 2003). A style sheet, which includes a detailed explanation of the editorial policy, is available upon request or at www.kshs.org/publicat/history/style.htm. Articles appearing in Kansas History are available online from EBSCO Publishing and on microfilm from University Microfilms, Ann Arbor, Michigan. Selected articles are published on the Society's web page at <http://www.kshs.org/publicat/history/online.htm>.

The Edgar Langsdorf Award for Excellence in Writing, which includes a plaque and an honorarium of two hundred dollars, is awarded each year for the best article published by Kansas History.

The editor welcomes letters responding to any of the articles published in this journal. With the correspondent's permission, those that contribute substantively to the scholarly dialogue by offering new insights or historical information may be published. All comments or editorial queries should be addressed to Virgil W. Dean, editor, Kansas History: A Journal of the Central Plains, 6425 SW Sixth Avenue, Topeka, KS 66615-1099; 785-272-8681, ext. 274; e-mail: vdean@kshs.org.
